Preface

This edition of Facts & Figures 2000, Health and Development updates information on development co-operation within the Health development for the fiscal year 2000. It also gives comparative figures from 1999 and 1998.

I hope that information available in this document will be useful as background material for presentations and for the purpose of planning future co-operation programmes. Information provided is based on disbursements made by Sida (i.e. not plans or budgets). A deviation in the support to a specific project/programme may be explained by delayed disbursements. It does not, therefore, necessarily signify a reduced or an increased allocation in comparison to previous years. The word contribution may be used in the report meaning the same thing as disbursement.

This report has two parts: the first one giving an overview of the support including graphs and summary tables, the second containing detailed tables of the support.

For further information on the different areas of the health sector co-operation, for policies, strategies or results in terms of outputs and effects, other documents are available at the responsible departments of Sida.

This edition of Facts & Figures covers all Swedish Government financed health sector development co-operation through Sida. Sida's health sector co-operation is mainly channelled through the Health Division of the Department for Democracy and Social Development, DESO. However, most departments within Sida are engaged either directly or indirectly in the health co-operation, in particular the Department for Co-operation with NGOs and Humanitarian Assistance, SEKA and in research co-operation through the Department for Research Co-operation, SAREC. Figures on health development sector support through all departments of Sida are included in this report.

1 Summary of Facts & Figures for 2000

- The total Swedish Development Assistance to the health sector constitutes approximately 9% (13%)¹ of the total Swedish Development Cooperation or 1 458 MSEK (1 244 MSEK).
- Sida disbursed in total 1 145 MSEK to the health sector cooperation during 2000 while the Ministry for Foreign Affairs and the Ministry for Health and Social Welfare disbursed 313 MSEK, mainly constituting core multilateral assistance to UN agencies.
- The disbursements by Sida increased by 23% compared to previous year (10% of total Sida disbursements)
- More than half of the Sida disbursements to the health sector (60%) was administrated through DESO and the Embassies.
- Both the DESO and other Sida disbursements to the health sector have increased from previous year.
- The area of Health Systems Development including broad support for improved Health Services (district and sector support) received the major part of the support within the health sector and was the fastest growing programme area. It increased by 72% from last year.
- Africa was the continent receiving most (one third), but Europe increased by 86% and Asia by 51% that is more than the growth of the support to Africa (9%).
- The support to some special target groups was reduced e.g. urban and rural areas
- Just more than one fifth of the disbursements had environment objectives.
- Two third of the disbursements had gender equality objectives. Almost 80% of the DESO disbursements were gender oriented. Of the DESO disbursements, 40% had gender equality as the main objective, an increase since 1998.
- The health disbursements were also more concerned with peace, democracy and human rights than Sida disbursements in general, but mainly through secondary objectives.
- Of the health disbursements, 80% were related to poverty reduction, mainly indirectly through policy and institutional support.

¹) Figures within parenthesis are those for 1999

2 An Overview of Swedish Health Sector Cooperation

The overall objectives for Sida's Health Sector Cooperation are to promote:

- a sustainable and effective health system
- a nation-wide coverage of health services of acceptable quality, according to the principle of social equity and gender equality
- a strengthened role for the health sector in influencing other sector policies towards better health.

The development cooperation aims at strengthening the capacity of national health systems and institutions and at providing financial and technical assistance for the implementation of different health programmes.

The main partners in the health sector cooperation are Ministries of Health. Other partners are UN agencies and international and national non-governmental organisations.

Sida disbursed 1 145 (932)² MSEK

Organisational distribution of Swedish Health Development Cooperation

From Sida the Health Sector Cooperation was disbursed by the following departments:

- Bilateral and Regional programmes as well as Development Funds constituted 686 (529) MSEK or 60 (57)% and were administered by Embassies and the Health Division at the Department for Democracy and Social Development, DESO.
- Health Sector Cooperation through Swedish NGOs and Disaster Relief amounted to 197 (221) MSEK or 17 (24)% and was administered by the Department for Cooperation with NGOs and Humanitarian Assistance, SEKA.
- Health Research Cooperation amounted to 108 (97) MSEK or 9 (10)% and was administered by the Department for Research Cooperation, SAREC.

- Health Sector Cooperation with Central and Eastern European Countries amounted to 110 (64) MSEK or 10 (7)% and was administered by the Department for Central and Eastern Europe, Sida-EAST.
- Development Credits and International Courses amounted to 43 (21) MSEK or 4 (2)% and was administered by the Sida Department for Infrastructure and Economic Cooperation, INEC.

3 Sub-sectors

The Sida Health Sector Cooperation can be divided into four sub-sectors or programme areas:

- Health system development amounted to 368 (213) MSEK
- Sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) and Child health amounted to 346 (284) MSEK
- Public health amounted to 148 (164) MSEK
- Other health cooperation amounted to 216 (271) MSEK.

Support to health by sub-sector

3.1 Health Systems Development

There is a growing interest for the health systems and what health systems can do to promote health. The resources devoted to health systems are very unequally distributed, and not at all in proportion to the distribution of health problems. The work on Health System Development focuses on issues that relates to the functioning of the overall health system. It is concerned with issues such as health sector reform, health policy formulation, the organisation of the health sector and the financing of its activities. Equity concerns are always on top of the agenda when discussing the health system.

One important task is to give support and advise. Another task is to develop methods together with other agencies and institutions. However, within the area of health systems, a wide range of activities is currently going on. Examples of this work include the development of so called National Health Accounts, support to WHO activities in the area of Health Systems, Regional Network on Health Economics and Health Policy in Southern Africa, Courses on Health System Development (together with INEC, see below), the role of hospitals, the role of the private sector studies on sector wide approach and pharmaceuticals.

Other areas of closer analysis are decentralisation within the health sector and its effects on poverty, democratisation and gender equity, health care financing, and contracting within the health sector.

Health systems development	77	85	49
District health care and sector support	274	90	46
Pharmaceutical sector development	17	37	25
Total Health systems development	368	212	120

The disbursements to the development of health systems have increased much since 1998.

3.2 Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (SRHR)

The aim of the co-operation in this field is multifaceted. Women and men should be able to avoid illness and disability in their sexual and reproductive lives, and be able to have the number of children they wish. To reduce maternal mortality and morbidity is one major component in this area. In order to achieve this, Sida has selected a number of strategic areas in which to focus its attention. These are:

- Enhancement of increased awareness of international human rights treaties and conventions with relevance for gender equality;
- Access to effective reproductive health services provided by trained health professionals before and during pregnancy, at delivery and for new-born children;
- Attention to methods to make abortions safe;
- Develop good youth friendly health services and enhance sexuality education for young people;
- Support work against female genital mutilation;
- Enhance analysis and actions against gender-based discrimination and violence.
- Protect, support and promote breastfeeding especially among working women

As to HIV/AIDS Sida works towards the following goals:

- to enable people to protect themselves against HIV infection irrespective of sex, marital status or age;
- to encourage greater political commitment to HIV prevention programs;
- to allow people infected and affected by HIV/AIDS to pursue their lives with quality and dignity;
- to develop coping strategies to alleviate long term effects of the epidemic.

Child health	48	46	60
Breast-feeding and nutrition	22	11	11
Total SRHR and child health	346	284	265

The disbursements to this sub-sector have increased during 1999, particularly to reproductive health and rights.

3.3 Public Health

Public Health has recently become a third focus area of the Health Division. Health services play an important role in promoting and protecting health. But, in the long term, economic security, education, food, water, sanitation, housing, work and the broader physical and social environment are even more important determinants of the health and well-being of a population. This has become particularly obvious in connection with the intensified global effort to combat poverty. Public Health interventions address all those sectors in society which have significant influence on the health of the population, in particular on the health of vulnerable groups with the poorest health status. They are primarily of a promotive and preventive character, often aiming at influencing behaviour and lifestyles.

The Health Division has produced a paper to highlight the relationship between health and development and continues to explore an approach to Public Health which would be relevant to Sida's development cooperation with partner countries.

4 Geographical Distribution

Africa received 35% of the total health cooperation disbursements during 1999, a reduction from 40% in 1998. In addition, Asia decreased from 24% to 20%. The disbursements to global projects increased during 1999.

5 Funding

5.1 DESO: Country Programmes and Special Programme

The largest share of the DESO health sector cooperation consists of support to Country Programmes. This includes bilateral health cooperation in Sida Programme Countries and a large regional programme in Central America.

The disbursements for 1999 by Country Programme and per programme area are provided in table section 2. The tables indicate the distribution of funds between programme areas and components based on the Sida system of classification of activities. The Special Programme funds were channelled mainly to or through UN agencies, NGOs and institutions.

5.2 Sida EAST

One of four goals for Swedish cooperation with countries in Central and Eastern Europe, financed through Sida Department for Central and Eastern Europe, is to support a socially sustainable economic transition. Support to the health sector is mainly aiming at reform of the health care system and development of public health activities.

5.3 SEKA

Approximately 10% of the total disbursements from the Sida Department for Cooperation with NGOs and Humanitarian Assistance (SEKA), to development activities through NGOs are directed to health sector related projects and programmes. The development support is being channelled through (13) so-called frame- or umbrella organisations that in turn distribute the Sida funds to more than 300 individual organisations.

The Sida support to Humanitarian Assistance (Disaster Relief) included support through national NGOs and through the UN system.

5.4 INEC

The Sida Department for Infrastructure and Economic Cooperation (INEC) offers a wide range of technical courses in the International Training Programmes. The dominating themes focused on sexual and reproductive health (SRHR) and occupational health. The SRHR programmes aim at the improvement of sexual and reproductive health and rights by actions in health care along with intersectorial action in society. The Occupational Health programmes aim at giving the participants the capacity to initiate and monitor systematic actions for improving occupational safety, health and work productivity to fit the conditions of participant countries.

5.5 SAREC

Swedish development cooperation in the area of research is mainly channelled through the Sida Department for Research Cooperation (SAREC). Health research is supported as part of bilateral programmes of research cooperation with a number of developing countries, mainly Vietnam, Mozambique, Tanzania, Zimbabwe, Ethiopia and Nicaragua. These programmes aim to contribute to the development of national research capacity.

SAREC also supports international and other special health research programmes of relevance for development countries. This includes substantial contributions to the HRP, TDR and other research programmes within WHO as well as support to ICDDR/B in Bangladesh. SAREC also supports international initiatives (such as COHRED and Global Forum for Health Research) engaged in promoting essential national health research as well as international partnerships in research, addressing the health problems of developing countries.

Finally a small part of SAREC's budget is devoted to health development research carried out by Swedish research institutions with a view to promote the involvement of Swedish scientists in research cooperation with Third World countries.

5.6 International Organisations

Sweden has a long-standing involvement in the reform of the UN system. As concerns the field of health, the World Health Organisation, (WHO) is recognised as the main actor. In cooperation with the Swedish Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Health and Social welfare a policy dialogue has been on-going in order to make Swedish aid more effective and to influence the reform process of WHO. The Swedish core contribution to WHO in 2000 was 40 (34,37) MSEK disbursed by the Swedish Ministry of Social Welfare.

UNICEF has for many years been entrusted with a large core support from Sweden. Sida has also channelled funds through UNICEF for implementing bilateral programmes in seven countries. Special programme support to certain normative work is also provided. The Swedish core contribution to UNICEF in 2000 was 297 MSEK disbursed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Approximately 25% of this core contribution is estimated to be utilised for the health sector, 74,2 MSEK (66,3 MSEK).

The cooperation with UNFPA consists mainly of financial core support from Sweden and policy level meetings. The Swedish core contribution in 2000 to UNFPA was 160,0 MSEK (140,0 MSEK)

UNAIDS, the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS, is a programme cosponsored by six UN organisations with the purpose to co-ordinate the UN efforts on HIV/AIDS prevention and care. The focus of UNAIDS is to strengthen the capability of the countries to respond effectively to the AIDS epidemic. The six cosponsors are UNDP, UNESCO, UNFPA, UNICEF, WHO and World Bank. The Swedish contribution to Regular Budget (core contribution) in 2000 was 47,0 MSEK (37,0 MSEK) disbursed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The World Bank is the largest actor on the global health assistance arena. The DESO/Health Division has cooperation with the World Bank both at global policy level and through co-financing projects in four countries.

6 Target Groups and Areas

Sida classifies the activities by different target groups: age, sex, special groups and urban/rural.

6.1 Age groups

The targeting of special age groups has decreased since 1998.

6.2 Sex

Women are targeted slightly less 1999 than 1998. Targeting of men is very limited in the health sector cooperation.

6.3 Special groups

The targeting of special groups is limited. The refugees got less than 1% and minorities including aborigines got 1% of the disbursements in health sector cooperation. The disabled got 2% of the disbursements.

6.4 Urban/rural

Although DESO and Sida have substantially reduced the special support to rural areas since 1998, there was still some more support to rural areas than urban areas 1999.

7 Sida's Four Action Programmes

Sida also classifies the activities according to their main development goals; poverty reduction, democracy, gender equality and environmentally sustainable development.

7.1 Environment and sustainable development

As expected, the environment relevance of health sector cooperation is less than of the total Sida cooperation.

7.2 Gender equality

Gender equality is much more the objective at DESO compared to other Sida health sector cooperation and Sida overall cooperation disbursements. The main objectives are more gender related in 1999 compared with 1998.

7.3 Peace, democracy and human rights

The health sector cooperation has peace, democracy and human rights as the main objective more than Sida in general, but mostly as a secondary objective. DESO has increased its democracy consideration from 1998.

7.4 Poverty reduction

The health sector cooperation (particularly by DESO) reduces poverty mainly through direct as well as indirect influence (policy and institutional support) and less through general support. The direct influence as well as overall influence is, however, reduced since 1998.
